Impress your guests by serving these unusual global wine gems. In recent months, I've come across some distinctive wines from Chile's Atacama Desert, Portugal's Vinho Verde district, and Tuscany's little known Montecucco region. Many are lower in alcohol (in the 12% range) for refreshing summer drinking.

Simon Family Estate Tigress Rosé of Grenache, Napa Valley, 2021 ($35)—With grapes sourced from old vines in the prestigious Rutherford AVA and made from 100% Grenache, this light rosé sports a soft salmon hue and subtle aromas of honeysuckle, lemongrass, grapefruit, and strawberries. Rising star winemaker Maayan Koschitzky crafts the wine in the style of Provence rosés. Named for “Tigress” Nada Simon, co-proprietor of the Simon Family Estate and with an abstract rendering of a tiger etched onto the bottle, this elegant wine possesses only 12% alcohol and pairs well with summer salads.
